

Staff Specialist or Medical Consultant, Gynaecology and Obstetrics Department, Slagelse Hospital

The position of staff specialist in the Gynaecology and Obstetrics Department, Slagelse Hospital, is vacant.

Who are we?

The department is newly established at Slagelse Hospital in newly renovated facilities. We are a dynamic department with short decision-making processes and healthy interpersonal communication. This means that you will be part of a department where influence and development are keywords. We want to ensure employee influence at all levels, as we believe that this engenders a feeling of ownership for the department's development. Therefore, we have a close dialogue among employees, middle management and departmental management, and we are constantly and constructively critical of ourselves and our practice. In so doing, we endeavour to create a department that is worth the trip for both staff and patients.

Our gynaecological unit handles most procedures in the field of benign gynaecology, including open, laparoscopic and vaginal hysterectomies, mini and operative hysteroscopy, as well as prolapse surgery. We have just started using robotic surgery in collaboration with the surgical department, focusing on hysterectomy and, eventually, myomectomy. Finally, we have a well-functioning gynaecology outpatient clinic which, in addition to standard consultations, contains both a subacute function and a nurse-led outpatient abortion clinic. The obstetrics unit handles some 2,000 births a year, and we have regional functions in areas such as gestational diabetes, epilepsy, immunisation and prenatal diagnosis. In addition, there is a regional family outpatient clinic attached to the department, where we treat pregnant women with substance abuse.

Qualification requirements

You must be a medical specialist in gynaecology and obstetrics with vast gynaecological experience. We also give high priority to good interdisciplinary collaboration skills, flexibility and job satisfaction.

Terms and conditions

The medical staff comprises a senior consultant, 13 consultants, three H2 registrars, three registrars in introductory positions and nine positions in general medicine. The department participates in teaching medical students from the University of Copenhagen.

The employment is subject to the collective agreement concluded between Danish Regions and the Association of Medical Specialists.

Slagelse Hospital

Slagelse Hospital is an acute hospital, which specialises in the rapid treatment of acute illnesses. The hospital receives acute patients around the clock and undertakes planned treatment within the following areas:

- Surgery (diseases of the stomach and intestines, gallstones, hernias, haemorrhoids, appendicitis, and cancer of the large intestine and rectum). The hospital also offers endoscopic examinations and treatment of, for example, arteriosclerosis and balloon dilation of the blood vessels
- Medical illnesses (diseases of the heart, stomach, intestines, liver, lungs, spine, hormones and metabolism, as well as rheumatism)

- Orthopaedic surgery (all types of bone fractures, hand surgery, amputations, endoscopic examinations of the knees and wrists, etc.)
- Work and medico-social illnesses (work-related problems such as stress and physical strain)

In 2013 Næstved, Slagelse and Ringsted (NSR) hospitals became an autonomous unit within the Region Zealand public hospital service, with its own hospital management and administration. As of 1 January 2015, the NSR hospitals have 3,500 employees and 622 beds.

At Næstved, Slagelse and Ringsted hospitals, we do our utmost to create a stimulating and exciting workplace, and we strive to be the best place of training in Region Zealand for many different specialist fields.
